VISION

Music is the universal language of people all over the world. As the world turns, musical trends tend to change. We envision the following for the future:

- Music will continue to exist all over the world.
- New genres will flourish in the industry.
- Major labels will pursue more partnering opportunities with independent labels to get closer to the fans.
- The internet will become a primary source for music media.
- Listeners will experience the music of other cultures due to technology developments that have allowed easy access to other forms of music.
